Military Surgeons Would Like to Have West Point of Their Own

PROJECT IS FAVORED AT ASSOCIATION'S MEETING---ENO SANDERS PRIZE WON BY AN ENGLISH OFFICER

ABOUT 100 delegates of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, met in convention May 19, putting in a busy first day of a three-day jaunt in Boston. They were formally welcomed by the Governor in Faneuil Hall in the morning, cleaned up about all their administrative business in the afternoon at the Medical Library, and whiled away the evening in the First Cadet Armory, where Governor and Mrs. Bates, with the regimental medical staff of the State Militia, received. This last function was a large and brilliant affair, assembling nearly 500 officers, mostly medical or surgical, and their wives. Pennsylvania was represented by Lieutenant Colonel Weaver, Brigade Surgeons Milligan and Halberstadt, Regimental Surgeons Stayer, Montelius, Cawley and Arnold, and Assistant Surgeons Brubaker, Peters and Cherry.

The association has a membership of about 1,000, scattered all over the English-speaking earth, though mostly in the United States, medical officers of other countries being eligible to associate membership. Among the most distinguished visitors May 19 was a small contingent from this class, of whom were Major Jones, of Halifax; Lieutenant W. Le Bell and Colonel Ryerson, representing Canada; Colonel Charlton, of the English Army; Lieutenant Colonel Enrico Castelli, of the Italian Army; Dr. Robert Reden, of the St. Petersburg Imperial Military Medical Academy; Colonel A. Aguiree, of the Mexican Army. These gentlemen let nothing escape them.

PROMINENT MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION OF MILITARY SURGEONS

One of the first things spoken of at length at the business meeting by Secretary Pilcher was this matter of enlisting foreign officers as associate members, a move that has been particularly active during the past year. England and Canada as using the same language, were the most concerned, and in England the military authorities had co-operated and many English officers enrolled.

It was in Canada, however, that the advances of the association met with a response so cordial as to prompt Major Pilcher to say that Canada was unexampled in international courtesy. The Canadian military authorities had co-operated to a degree that had materially added to the Canadian contingent in the membership and augured well for the mutual good feeling between the two countries. There were, all told, 253 new members added to the roll last year, an unusual number for one year, and, in addition, 253 new subscribers to the journal.

The treasurer reported a balance at the beginning of the year of $4,252.26; receipts, $8,010.23; expenditures, $3,227.23; balance, $4,782.40.

The necrology report commemorated the deaths of Major Walter Reid, U. S. A.; George M. Woods, medical director, U. S. M.; Dr. John Van Zandt, Lieutenant Colonel Adams, Captain Franklin M. Kent and Contract Surgeon Charles E. Jackson.

The association was incorporated by act of Congress during the past year, which was the subject of a lengthy report.

A project of more than technical interest appeared in the report of the committee on a public service medical school. The suggestion of the surgeon general of the army constituted the bulk of it, wherein he proposes an approach to West Point for army medical men. The students would be fully enrolled in the service for a six-year term and come with a civil medical training. The first year of their service, however, would be in the school, where they would receive pay as if in the service, and would round out their medical training by a study of the conditions peculiar to military hospital and sanitary work.

The committee criticised the suggestion by observing that it was advisable for the army and navy surgeons to get all their medical training in the service school, and recommended that measures should be devised to secure the co-operation of the two services to that end.

Colonel Wreden, a professor in the Russian Military Academy, on being asked to outline the Russian practice in training their medical officers, stated that the army organization provided all the medical training of such officers.. There was a five-year course, at the end of which the graduates entered the army. The seven best of each class, however, were granted three years more of post-graduate work on whatever specialty they selected, and at the end of this period were given two years abroad for the study of special subjects in other countries or armies.

When these latter returned, he stated, they were accorded a degree equivalent to that of privat docent in Germany, and was the source of the teaching talent in the Academy. Of the original graduates the best were assigned to the military hospitals, and the remainder to the regiments, the latter post being less desirable to a student, as in Russia sick soldiers are rarely kept more than twenty-four hours in the regimental lazaretto, being sent at once, if preliminary observations promise a long term of illness.

The dramatic incident of the meeting was the awarding of the Eno Sanders prize for an essay on the topic "The Differential Diagnosis of Typhoid Fever in Its Earliest Stages." This prize, a $100 gold medal, was instituted ten years ago by Major Eno Sanders, of St. Louis. Competition is open to the world. Four essays were submitted this year, and of these the committee selected two that were accounted of nearly equal merit, one being considered a trifle more suggestive on the practical side of medical practice. The other of the two was deemed nearly as good, from this point of view, and of high literary merit, as well, being so good that the committee recommended the award of a life membership to the writer.

When the envelopes were opened, the first prize was found to have been won by Major Fred. Smith, of the Royal Army Medical Corps, Wiltshire, Eng. The other prize was won by William Colby Rucker, of the Marine Hospital Service, Boston.

Dr. Rucker was present and was invited to read his essay, a paper pronounced of high technical value by several elder medical officers present, in the course of the discussion that followed. Dr. Rucker decided in his paper on the blood culture method of diagnosis in the early stages, as the surest method of finding out whether a patient has typhoid fever or not, though admitting that he was none too sure.

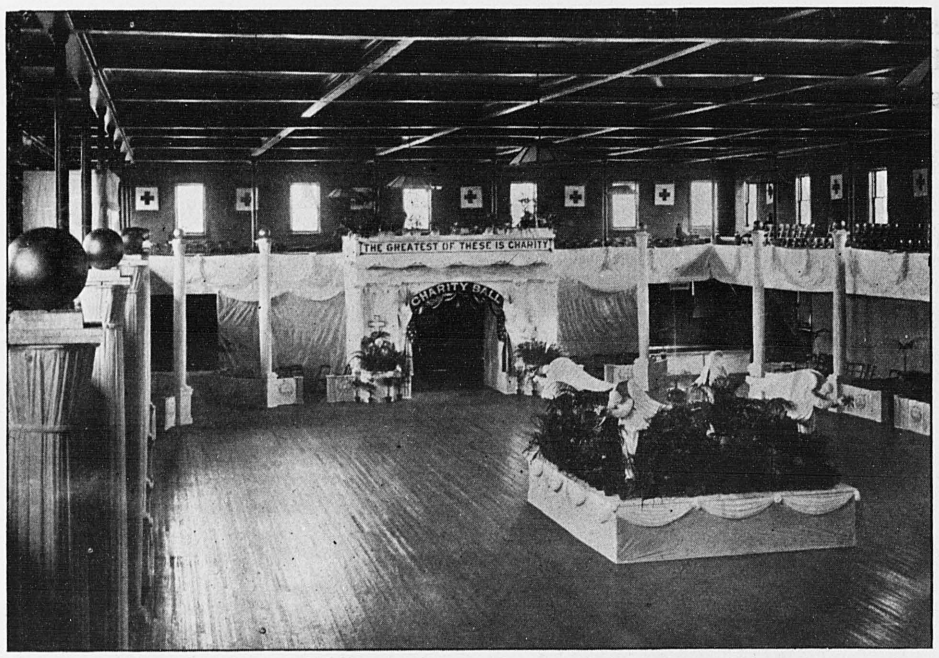
Colonel Wreden detailed a precaution, found useful in Russia, in the early observation of typhoid fever, of examining the whole person of the patient, so as not to overlook osteomyelitis of the long bones—a rare disease in this country, but, it would appear, fairly common in Russia. Its initial symptoms are exactly like those of typhoid fever.

Captain Robert E. Bell commanding. Thursday afternoon they were taken in automobiles to Lexington and Concord, and Friday morning a government boat took them down the harbor to Fort Warren, where the principal defences of the Boston harbor were seen.

MAJOR CHARLES SMITH TURNBULL

Major Charles Smith Turnbull, First Infantry, N. G. P., oculist and aurist, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., the son of the well known aurist, Dr. Laurence Turnbull, a native of Scotland, and Louisa Paleske (Smith) Turnbull, daughter of the late Charles S. Smith. The Major received his preliminary education at the Episcopal Academy and the Central High School of his native city, after which he attended the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He took the degree of A. M. in 1869, Ph. D. 1870, and M. D. in 1871.

In 1871 he was surgeon to the U. S. Geological Survey of the Territories of Wyoming and Montana, and in the same capacity accompanied F. V. Hayden, U. S. Geologist and Surveyor of the National Yellowstone Park, in 1871-72. As resident assistant surgeon to the New York Ophthalmic and Aural Institute, he was associated



DECORATIONS AT THE WILKES-BARRE ANNUAL CHARITY BALL SHOWING THE INTERIOR OF THE NINTH REGIMENT ARMORY

A resolution was unanimously adopted recommending to the President of the United States that the chief medical officer of the proposed Panama Canal operations be made a member of the commission.

At the morning session Bishop Lawrence made the opening prayer, and the association was formally welcomed by Governor Bates, Dr. George A. Francis, president of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the response was by Brigadier General R. R. Blood, president of the association and the chief medical officer of the State Militia.

The social features of the entire programme were very enjoyable, and so arranged as not to encroach upon the sessions for scientific business. On the evening of May 19th a reception was tendered the members, ladies and invited guests of the delegation at the Armory of the First Corps Cadets, M. V. M., Columbus avenue. On Wednesday, at the invitation of Dr. Henry O. March, the association lunched with him at his residence, 180 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. On the same evening the association witnessed a drill and evening parade at the Armory of the First Regiment, H. A. M. V. M., and also an exhibition by the Ambulance Corps, M. V. M., with Dr. Herman Knapp during 1873-75. The two years following he was a student in the several ophthalmic and aural departments of the Imperial General Hospital of Vienna. In addition to the duties of a practitioner in his specialty, he is chairman of the Medical Board and has been for years oculist and aurist to the German Hospital of Philadelphia, where the men of the First are always and have been welcome, and it was in this hospital at the close of the American-Spanish War most of the men who were brought North were cared for and nursed to health.

Special trains from Philadelphia at various times brought men of the First back from Chickamauga, Knoxville and Camp Meade. Major Turnbull represented the Veteran Corps on one to Knoxville through the courtesy of the University of Pennsylvania, and one to Camp Meade was sent by the German Hospital of Philadelphia in charge of Major Turnbull. The Sisters of the German Hospital and Mrs. Turnbull acted as nurses on the train as it sped North. All of these men were cared for at the German Hospital, and in spite of the most severe cases of typhoid, no cases proved fatal.

Major Turnbull and Captain Muldoon, the veteran of three wars, so well known to every friend of the First, are great friends

Dr. Turnbull is a member of the Philadelphia County and Pennsylvania State Medical Societies, American Medical Association, the Associated Military Surgeons of the United States (a National organization), and fellow of the American Academy of Medicine. Since 1888 he has been associate editor in charge of the Department of Otology in the "Annual of the Universal Medical Sciences," and he has also made numerous contributions to the literature of his specialty, especially as referred to the diseases of children. In 1862 he joined Company "A," Grey Reserves, and served under Captain (subsequently Colonel) Charles S. Smith, his grandfather, continuously as associate and enlisted member until 1873, when he was appointed assistant surgeon of the First Regiment, N. G. Pa. He acted as Brigade Surgeon during the "Pittsburg and Roundhouse Campaign," receiving high praise from Colonel R. Dale Benson, of the First Regiment, in his official reports, "for faithful and untiring service throughout the tour of duty, especially on the march of July 22, 1877." In the report of the surgeon in chief of the First Division, N. G. Pa., December 18, 1877, occurs this sentence: "Assistant Surgeon Turnbull proved himself to be an excellent officer, zealous and faithful in the performance of his duties, taking duties not only as a surgeon of the regiment, but for a part of the time acting as brigade surgeon. He is now surgeon of the Veteran Corps, First Regiment, N. G. Pa., and President of the Old Guard "A" Company, First Regiment, N. G. Pa.

SPECIAL APPRECIATION

April 12, 1901.

Major C. S. Turnbull, Surgeon First Regt. Infantry, N. G. Pa.

My Dear Major:—Having retired from the active command of the N. G. Pa., I take great pleasure in presenting to you my sword I carried for over thirty years, knowing by your action in standing by your post of duty with the Regiment at Pittsburg in 1877 you will never disgrace it. I am with great respect,

Yours truly,

JAMES MULDOON,
Ex-Captain First Regt., N. G. Pa.

Mr. President and Comrade:—By reason of my office as vice president, I am requested at this time to be the mouthpiece of the Old Guard Association of Company "A," First Regiment Infantry, N. G. Pa.

Josh Billings, one of our old time philosophers, has truly said, in his homely way, "Tell me what you think of your neighbor, and I will tell you what he thinks of you." It is very evident that from the organization of the Old Guard Association you have always taken a keen interest in its affairs. You have on more than one occasion at considerable cost to yourself of time and labor favored us individually and as an association with interesting and instructive papers and historical reminiscence of our company and regiment. Your interest has gone so far as to entertain us as an organization in your own home, and your genial personality has endeared you to us all. As a mark of our sincere appreciation of this generous treatment and of our personal esteem, it has for some time been felt that it would be a pleasure to us to express ourselves in some fitting way, and when the subject was presented to our members it met with hearty and spontaneous response.

It was very natural that in looking about for a suitable testimonial that our choice should be something pertaining to the military.

We of the Old Guard, who are now too old—mostly from choice—for active service—desiring to encourage that military zeal which is yours by choice and inheritance, and which was displayed by your labors for the men of the First Regiment during the Spanish American War, and which is evident to-day by your present commission in the active command, take great pleasure, therefore, in presenting you with this sword and belt, trusting that it may afford you, Major, as much pleasure in receiving it as it does us in its presentation.

We feel assured that it will always remain with you a cherished token of companionship, and let us hope that in the years to come its possession may recall to mind many noble patriotic sentiments and acts, and many happy days.

April 14, 1902.

Address delivered by Captain Winfield L. Margerum on the above date.

Dr. Turnbull is a member of the Union League Club of Philadelphia, Colonial Society, Pennsylvania Chapter Sons of the Revolution, and has lately been elected a member of the Board of Public Education of Philadelphia.

Major Turnbull is particularly interested in the welfare of Hospital steward F. O. Waage, who enlisted in Company "D," First Regiment, in March, 1902, and was assigned to the Hospital Corps. He was on duty with his command during the industrial disturbances and for a time stationed at Headquarters, Hazleton, Pa. He was recommended for the position of hospital steward on June 13, 1903. He was graduated from the Princeton University in 1900 and entered the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in the fall of the same year, and will graduate from that department next spring. He succeeds Charles Ouram, who held the position of hospital steward in the First Infantry for nearly twenty-five years.

A PRETTY COMMENCEMENT

The commencement exercises of the Cheltenham Military Academy, on June 9th, was the finest demonstration of military tactics in the history of the Academy, and great credit was due Major Albert D. Sayer, the military commander, who was untiring in his detail work.

The military judges for this year's exercises were General James W. Latta, U. S. V.; General John W. Schall, General Willis J. Hulings, Colonel Wendell P. Bowman, Colonel O. C. Bosbyshell, Colonel William G. Price, Jr., Colonel Thomas Potter, Jr., Colonel Henry D. Paxson and Captain Charles J. Hendler.

The programme consisted of guard mounting, company drill in extended order (illustrating an advance upon an intrenched position), military signalling, competitive company drill, competitive drill for Potter Memorial Medal, competitive drill for Lower School Medal, battalion drill and battalion parade. In the competitive company drill Company "C," under Cadet Captain G. M. Appell, carried off the honors of the day, and in the individual competitive drill the Potter Memorial Medal, after a spirited contest, was won by Philip Delano Doddridge.

One of the features of the occasion was an address delivered to the cadets by General Willis J. Hulings, who dwelt upon the privileges the youth of the twentieth century might enjoy. His speech was intensely interesting, and at the conclusion the corps of cadets heartily cheered the general.

OUR State "Army and Navy Journal" has recently been asked to explain the difference between officers being on the retired roll and that of the retired list.

We would respectfully answer that the roll of retired officers was the first system adopted by the State in recognizing officers for their long and faithful service and entitled them to wear their dress uniform on all State occasions. This class is entitled to a life commission.

The list of retired officers is a semi-active class subject to a call for regular duty by the commander-in-chief when emergency requires their service. Any commissioned officer having served ten consecutive years or fifteen years in any capacity in the Guard may, upon application, be placed on the list with the highest rank that he may have held. This commission is in force for five years, and if the officer is within keeping of its requirements the commission is renewed quinquennial. The officers of this grade are entitled to wear the service, dress and full dress uniform on all State occasions.

RECENTLY the commissions of several officers have been vacated by order of the commander-in-chief upon the recommendation of the regimental commanders. Several weeks ago the commission of Captain John L. Huff, of Company "H," of the Thirteenth Infantry, was ordered vacated, and subsequently an election was ordered, when the men re-elected Captain Huff. This would seem rather an injudicious and ridiculous move upon the part of the men, as it is not likely that a new commission would be issued under the circumstances.

ALTHOUGH no official order has been issued, many officers throughout the Division have supplied themselves with the new army service and dress uniforms, thus giving them quite a distinguished appearance.

THE appointment of Colonel Thomas Allen Glenn as aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief is a purely personal one. Colonel Glenn is a prominent member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, and was mentioned as a likely candidate for the position of State Librarian. He is the organizer of the Second Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, and formerly served on the staff of General J. P. S. Gobin as a volunteer aide.

NOTES

Third Regiment

In the resignation of Majors Graham and Hamilton and Captain Bower, of the Third Infantry, the service loses three of its efficient officers, they having served the command faithfully for the past thirteen years. Pressure of business is given as the reason for their withdrawal.

Fourth Regiment

Colonel C. T. O'Neill and his field, line, staff and non-commissioned staff, located at Allentown, fully demonstrated their ability on June 3rd to prepare and royally entertain the officers and men of the visiting companies who participated in the parade as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic incidental to the State Encampment. The regiment formed promptly at nine o'clock and preceded by the Grand Marshal, Captain James Deaufer and his aides with the Allentown Band, took up the line of march amidst the cheers and applause of over twenty thousand patriotic citizens who were lined along the route of parade, in many places ten deep. The companies paraded sixteen solid front, wearing the blue service uniforms with leggins and white gloves, and as a matter of uniformity the haversack was worn. The appearance of the regiment was splendid. After the parade the visiting companies were entertained in the armory of Companies "B" and "D," and the officers were entertained at the Livingston Club, followed by a delightful trolley ride arranged by Captain Roney, during which trip the famous Allentown Duck Farm was visited and the Trout Fish Hatcheries. These all proved very interesting to the many visitors. Later in the day special cars conveyed the officers to the new Bellevue Hotel, where a sumptuous dinner was served. Generals Gobin and Stewart were special invited guests at this function. After further social converse the officers returned to the headquarters, where the regiment was formed preparatory to its departure. In this connection we wish to add that notwithstanding the fact that nearly seven hundred men were accorded the freedom of the city, not a single case of disorder was reported. When the regiment passed by its esteemed brigade commander and the Adjutant General of the State it was remarked that the superb discipline could not have been better were it a regiment of the regular establishment.

Errata

The descriptive matter under the illustration on page 21 of the May issue, reading Mr. Edwin B. Young, should have been Mr. Edward B. Young. The editor of the journal officially regrets the typographical error.

Sixth Regiment

Within the last month quite a change has taken place in the field and line of Colonel Coryell's (Sixth Infantry). Major McBlain, Captains Hunsicker and Shellenberger have resigned owing to business interference, and it is stated that Captain G. S. Bennett and First Lieutenant Herman J. Smith, of Company "I," have tendered their resignations for the same cause. All of these officers have had a long and honorable connection in the Guard, and in the case of the West Chester company, the position of captain will be particularly difficult to fill.

Eighth Regiment

Sergeant Grange was elected Captain of Company "K," June 25. This Company will never be re-organized.

Company "H," commanded by Captain Hoepstine, made quite a favorable impression at Allentown on June 3rd, when they paraded as part of the Fourth Regiment.

Ninth Regiment

Through the personal efforts of Colonel Dougherty the regiment has secured one of the finest rifle ranges in the State. It is located on the new electric road, of which Mr. Alvin Markle is the president, about three miles from Sugar Notch, the ground being owned by the Meadow Brook Water Company. It is largely through the courtesy of Colonel Watres, one of the owners, that this admirable site was secured at the nominal rental of ten dollars ($10) per year. The cost of erecting the range and a club house with suitable lockers and a storage room is nearly two thousand dollars ($2,000). This amount was subscribed to Colonel Dougherty by his friends and admirers of the regiment. The ranges comprise two, three, five, six, eight hundred and one thousand yards, and are arranged on the echelon order. The regulation sliding targets will be used. A range master has been engaged who will have entire charge of its care, and will receive a salary of $50 per month. It is expected that the work will be completed by July 1st and open for practice on that date. Two hundred men of the six companies located at Wilkesbarre visited the range last week and gave it a general cleaning up. On their return to the armory Colonel Dougherty entertained them with a clam bake. On July 8th the officers of the Ninth will hold a Field Day, followed by a luncheon, when the officers of the Thirteenth Regiment and prominent citizens of Wilkesbarre will be invited as guests of the Ninth to witness the practical workings of the range.

Captain Calvin Pardee, Jr., Company "G," located at Hazleton, has tendered his resignation, much to the regret of the officers and men. Captain Pardee is one of its organizers, and under his administration the company has not only attained a high standard in the Guard, but is the possessor of one of the finest armories in the State. It is more than likely that Lieutenant W. Isaac Ravert will be elected to succeed Captain Pardee.

Company "M," commanded by Captain B. S. Emory, West Pittston, held a delightful lawn party on the evening of June 18th. Many of the representative citizens of this locality participated in the event, and it is stated that several hundred dollars were realized, which will be converted to the fund of the company.

Company "E," formerly located at Parsons, is now comfortably situated on the third floor of the Wilkesbarre armory, and possesses one of the finest company rooms in the regiment. Captain John W. Doran is untiring in his efforts to bring about a thorough reorganization, and will no doubt in the near future present one of the best companies in the State.

Captain E. J. Dougher and First Lieutenant W. Collier, of Company "H," will resign after the coming encampment.

Tenth Regiment

Colonel James E. Barnett expects to have the entire Second Brigade to take part in the unveiling ceremonies of the Hawkins monument, in Schenley Park, July next, and it is likely that the Third Infantry of the First Brigade will be invited to participate as the guests of the Tenth Infantry.

Twelfth Regiment

The Repasz Band of Williamsport, now the Twelfth Regiment Band, will give the members of the Third Brigade a treat during the coming encampment. They will present the musical extravaganza "The Spanish War." In this production the band, a large vocal chorus, which will be taken from the regiment, a battalion of troops, a projectiscope, a powerful searchlight, fireworks, &c., will be used.

A new assignment of the companies of the Twelfth Regiment has been made as follows. First Battalion, Companies E, K and A; Second Battalion, Companies C, F and H; Third Battalion, Companies I, D, G and B.

Captain and Quartermaster John V. Lesher, of the Twelfth Regiment, has resigned. He has been succeeded by Captain William C. Gretzinger. This promotion has given rise to the following promotions: Regimental Sergeant Major George E. Deppen to First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant; Battalion Sergeant Major Samuel B. Wolfe to be Regimental Sergeant Major; Paul B. Stout to be Battalion Sergeant Major. By the authority of the Adjutant General the regiment has been given a third battalion adjutant and battalion sergeant major. Second Lieutenant Roy Schuyler, of Company H, has been appointed Battalion Adjutant, and Martin W. Clement, Battalion Sergeant Major. W. Herdic Wood has been appointed chief musician.

Company D., Twelfth Regiment, after two unsuccessful attempts at an election, finally succeeded on the forty-first ballot in electing First Sergeant Jesse Fenstemacher to second lieutenant, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Lieutenant Konkle to the first lieutenancy.

Dr. Robert F. Trainer, of Williamsport, has been appointed an acting hospital steward for the Twelfth Regiment.

The commission of Captain William H. Hein, Company H, Twelfth Regiment, expired June 22. An election has been ordered.

An election for second lieutenant of Company H, Twelfth Regiment, has been ordered for June 26.

The rifle range at Williamsport must be abandoned. It will not be safe to use Krags on it.

The Williamsport battalion of the Twelfth Regiment is holding battalion drills on the street each week.

Thirteenth Regiment

Colonel Watres's command is busy preparing for the great military tournament, trades exposition and street carnival, to be held June 29th to July 4th, inclusive. Captain W. S. Gould is secretary of the committee, and the work is being carefully supervised by Major Frank Roebling, Jr. It is expected that several thousand dollars will be realized from the affair.

During the Interstate National Guard Convention held at Columbus, Ohio, May 4th, it was noticed that Colonel Watres was particularly interested in the field music at the Columbus barracks, where the visiting officials were taken to witness an evening parade. He was so well pleased with the bugle corps that he concluded to organize one in the Scranton City Guard. Musicians Greenwald and Moore were detailed to assist in the matter, and on Friday evening, June 19th, the regular number of twenty-eight men were sworn into the service. They will parade as a separate organization, as per the requirements of the brass bands. The officers and men of the regiment are delighted with the idea as under the old arrangement the regiment was constantly having trouble with its musicians.

Captain E. H. F. Conrad, of Company "A," is putting up a vigorous "kick" on account of being obliged to pay for the shortage of State property lost by his predecessor, Captain George H. Russ, Jr. Captain Conrad feels that the surety of Captain Russ should be held responsible for the amount of shortage.

Another case of shortage is that of Company "B." Captain Kambeck, who is an old and tried officer in the service, will ask for a Board of Survey to determine the loss of fifteen great coats, eight pairs of blankets, several haversacks and other articles. It is presumed that these were stolen during the strike duty.

The position of hospital steward, which was held for many years by Mr. Jos. Baumeister, was again tendered him, but on account of pressure of business he finds it impossible to accept of the kind offer of Major Keller.

Captain Maurice Clemens and his Easton City Guard (Company "I") made an excellent showing with the Fourth Regiment on June 3rd. The company was assigned to the centre Battalion temporarily commanded by Major B. Rush Field, who was the original captain of the company.

The Company will celebrate its 5th Anniversary, July 2d, by a Banquet, when Gen. Gobin and other prominent military officials will attend.

Musician Charles Moore, who will be remembered as one of the expert shots of the State and formerly connected with Bower's Band, has enlisted in Captain Gould's Company "K," and expects to remain on the regimental team.

Fourteenth Regiment

Colonel Thompson and Captains McKee, Griscom, Easton, Oursler and Blackstone called upon Adjutant General Stewart and Colonel Richardson in the early part of the month and were highly pleased with their visit. Such occasions are of great benefit to company commanders, especially as it keeps them in close touch with actual conditions and has a tendency to better appreciate each other's work in connection with the Adjutant General's office and the State Arsenal. These officers obtained knowledge which will be of great assistance in making their organization better than ever.

The Fourteenth Regiment will camp out at Calhoun Park from Saturday, July 4th, until Monday, the 6th. It will be good practice for the officers and men just previous to the Brigade camp at Somerset. Colonel Thompson has also decided to take the regiment to Somerset on July 23rd, two days prior to the opening of camp, and in this way expects to get in some good preparatory work before the inspection.

Colonel H. P. Bope's Third Regiment of the Boys' Brigade has just been inspected by Captain Howard B. Ousler, of the Fourteenth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, and made an excellent showing. Colonel Bope is the vice president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and takes a lively interest in the organization of the boys' brigade. In connection with his being in command of the regiment he is also lieutenant general in command of the Boys' Brigade of America. Captain Ousler, the inspecting officer, is an ex-sergeant of the Third United States Infantry, and served in that organization from July, 1895, to July, 1898. He will be remembered as having been one of the candidates for promotion from the Department of Dakota in 1897, together with Captains Vesta and Lincoln, now of the army.

Eighteenth Regiment

Colonel Rutledge's command is now comfortably ensconced in their new quarters, and once in the existence of the Duquesne Greys they can boast of having a military home of their own.

Battery "B"

The new armory of Battery "B," which is rented to Captain Reese for a period of five years, originally cost $4,600, but since this purchase was made the building has been extended over the entire lot and altered to suit the needs of the organization at an additional cost of $5,000, or a total of $9,600. The Western Artillery men feel proud of the fact that they have their own home, and are at all times glad to show their friends through the building.

New Jersey is the first State to wear the new army cap. The official lettering reads N. G. N. J.

State Notes

Colonel Harry C. Trexler, aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief, and Captain Fred. R. Drake, aide-de-camp on the Third Brigade Staff, paraded as honorary members of Colonel O'Neill's staff, June 3rd. They were superbly mounted on Kentucky chargers, and with their graceful riding attracted considerable attention.

The Bishops and Elders, an organization composed of the members of the First Brigade non-commissioned staff, gave a very pleasing dinner on June 23rd. This is an old-time custom and is usually held after the admission of new members.

The Popular Second Brigade Quartermaster Major Lew A. Anschutz wishes his many friends to know that he is now associated with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, located in Rooms 2013-15 Farmers' Bank Building, Pittsburg, Pa. "Drop in" on the Major when in the neighborhood. He will be glad to see you.

A certain regimental quartermaster of the Third Brigade is loath to part with his original fibre dyed duck uniform, and recently sent it to a New York tailor to have a new leg put in and generally repaired. The tailor, of course, used new material. This has brought about a peculiar contrast, one leg being nearly white from constant washing and the other brown, but the Captain is "suited," and says "try and forget it."

COLONEL SAMUEL MOODY

A practical and popular officer is Colonel Samuel Moody, Quartermaster General of the State. Colonel Moody is a born soldier. He started military life when a mere boy as a private in Company "D," of the Twenty-third New York Infantry, and after serving four years received an honorable discharge and came West, locating in Camelton, Beaver county. He served as an aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Beaver and as Quartermaster of the Seventeenth Infantry, N. G. P., commanded by Colonel A. J. Logan.

Later he accepted the position of Assistant Quartermaster General on the staff of Governor Stone, and was appointed Quartermaster General by Governor Pennypacker.

The successful transportation of troops during the Spanish-American War was largely due to his fine conception of departmental work. It is stated that his system of supervision was nearly parallel with that of the transportation department of the German army. This is simply another demonstration of the material contained in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Colonel Moody has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad for nearly eighteen years, commencing in the lowest possible position, that of selling tickets on commission. He next held the position of special agent at Rochester, Pa., and was then promoted to travelling passenger agent in the same territory. In 1888, district passenger agent at Pittsburg, and in 1893 was made assistant general passenger agent at Cincinnati, and in 1895 was appointed assistant general passenger agent at Pittsburg, which position he now holds.

He has always taken a deep interest in military affairs, and has the personal acquaintance of the leading army officials. It was Colonel Moody who suggested to the Government the advisability of running tourist sleeping cars for the comfort of the soldiers and the rigging up of a baggage car for the purpose of furnishing hot coffee, etc, while en route.

BLUE AND GRAY WILL VISIT CETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE THREE DAYS' FIGHT WILL BE CELEBRATED IN JULY

The fortieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, which will take place the first three days of July, will be the occasion of a big celebration. Members of the local committee are arranging to make it the most notable gathering of veterans of both the North and South ever held at Gettysburg, and it is estimated that 10,000 veterans and their families will attend.

The first day's battle will be celebrated at Reynold's Grove, July 1. General O. O. Howard and General H. S. Huidekoper will be the principal speakers. The new bronze statue of John Burns, the Gettysburg man who was wounded three times in the battle, will be unveiled. Governor Hunn, of Delaware, will speak at the rostrum in the National Cemetery July 2.

On the anniversary of the last day of the battle, July 3, there will be a grand reunion of the Blue and Gray. A number of noted Confederate and Federal officers will be present and make addresses, General John B. Gordon, Confederate States army, being among them.

The North Carolina Society of Baltimore will, on the 3rd, near the "high water mark," celebrate the charge of Pickett and Pettigrew and the part the "Tar Heels" took on each of the three days of the fight.

Colonel Thomas S. Kenan, of Raleigh, N. C.; Major W. M. Robbins, of Statesville, N. C., Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioner, and Professor Henry E. Sheperd, of Baltimore, will speak.

Penrose Meyers is chairman of Committee on Arrangements; Dr. George A. Stock chairman of the Stationery Committee, and J. Lawrence Williams, chairman of the Invitation Committee.

To accommodate visitors during the anniversary days, the Philadelphia and Reading Railway has arranged to sell excursion tickets from all ticket offices in Pennsylvania at rate of single fare for the round trip. Tickets for sale and good going June 30th to July 3d, inclusive, and good to return until July 6th, inclusive. For time of trains, rate of fare, etc., consult any P. & R. ticket agent.
